

ROOSEVELT DEMANDS THAT WILSON MAKE RETRACTION

Wants Proof That "Steel Corp. Is Behind Third Party," as Latter in Pueblo Speech Yesterday

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Colonel Roosevelt called on Governor Wilson tonight either to prove or retract his statement today in Pueblo that the United States Steel corporation "is behind the third party program in regard to regulation of the trusts." "So far as I know," said Colonel Roosevelt, "the statement has not the slightest foundation in fact. Mr. Wilson has no business to make such a statement unless he has the proof, and if he has any proof, I demand that he make it public immediately. If he has no proof, I demand that he retract his statement as the only manly and honorable thing to do."

FIGHTING REPORTED IN CASAS GRANDES

Salazar Returns to Collect Fragments of Army Rebels Repulsed

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 7.—Fighting has occurred at many different points in the Casas Grandes district, southwest of this point, according to American travelers arriving here today. Rebels were repulsed in an attack on Old Casas Grandes. They took the towns of Aragon and Jano after sharp fighting, but were defeated by federalists in a battle on the William Randolph Hearst ranch southeast of Casas Grandes.

OPPOSITION PRESS HAS WORDS PRAISE FOR PROGRESSIVES

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The type of opposition for office is bringing out enthusiastic praise from the opposition press everywhere. Here is an expression of commendation from a paper of Democratic convictions:

"No fair-minded observer of politics will be disposed to deny that the Bull Moose party is putting forward excellent candidates for governor in the New England states. Mr. Charles S. Bird in this commonwealth, Mr. Herbert Knox Smith in Connecticut, and Mr. Winston Churchill in New Hampshire are figures that command respect."

This is a political condition that every citizen ought to welcome. When a new party enters the field and puts forth good men forward it compels the old party to adopt and maintain high standards and offer the best available candidates. In Governor Ross and Speaker Walker, the Progressives have chosen of men proportions, and they will be compelled to fight earnestly to win over votes from the old parties here. If the advent of the new party results either this year or the future in a better crop of candidates for high office, it will have performed a distinct public service."

South Not Solid for Wilson.

Does this sound as if the South were solid for Wilson? Two thousand voters in Fulton county, Georgia, have elected themselves under the Progressive banner.

GIANTS AND RED SOX ON EDGE FOR BATTLE

Mathewson and Wood Probably Opposing Pitchers in Opener—Crowds Will Break Records

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Like two gladiators on the eve of a battle, the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox met on their arms tonight dreaming of victory tomorrow.

Not a regular will be missing from the batting list when the umpire says "play ball" for the first struggle. The Giants had their first workout at the Polo grounds this afternoon, their opponents being the New York Americans, tallenders of the 1912 American league race, who won the game, 4 to 2. The Giants did not put their full length into the field.

The National champions as they came out looked fit for the fray tomorrow. With the exception of "Chief" Bender, who limped slightly as he ran, all of them were in excellent shape. Most of the men after reaching their hotel went to their rooms and did not leave them. The visiting team had its final practice at Fenway park, Boston, early in the day and Manager Stahl was well satisfied with their showing.

Little Betting Evident.

Betting on the world's series is not general. Boston money was to be seen in larger quantities than New York cash.

New Yorkers Generally Pin Their Faith to John J. McGraw's Three Giant Pitchers and the base-running ability of the triumphant National leaguers. Boston, with its hand-picking outfield, expects to reach the pinnacle of New York's twirlers and hopes that Wood, Collins and O'Brien will keep the Giants off the bases.

Mathewson for Giants.

The pitchers for the opening game were problematical tonight. When Manager McGraw was asked who he expected to pitch, he said:

WILSON'S ATTITUDE ON LABOR SHOWN UP

Gov. Johnson Shows Where He Stood When Not Aspirant for Presidency

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Governor Johnson of California, invaded Long Island on behalf of the national Progressive party tonight and proclaimed his intention in future addresses during the campaign to discuss Woodrow Wilson's attitude toward trade unionism. He asserted he would seek to show that the Democratic presidential candidate formerly was hostile to union labor.

In pursuance of the plan, Governor Johnson tonight dealt with a letter Governor Wilson wrote to President Johnson of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad company in 1907. The letter contained acknowledgment of the copy of an address Mr. Johnson had made in which he attacked labor unions and "political demagogues." Governor Wilson wrote regarding the speech:

GOULD'S BAGGAGE RELEASED UPON PAYMENT OF DUTY

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Frank J. Gould today obtained release of $400,000 worth of baggage which the customs authorities seized when he and Mrs. Gould and her sisters arrived last Friday from their homes in Paris. Under protest, Mr. Gould paid $2,444 on the dutiable articles, but the greater part of the valuable jewelry was shown to have been of American purchase or to have been assessed before by the customs authorities. He will carry the case to the courts.

DENVER MEN INDICTED BY WELD CO. GRAND JURY

GREELEY, Oct. 7.—Frank F. Smith, Thomas J. Standley, E. A. Neresheim, W. E. Goldsborough and Milton Smith, all of Denver, were indicted today on four counts, by the Weld county grand jury, alleging conspiracy to commit larceny, embezzlement and to obtain money under false pretenses, and bonds of the Denver-Greeley Valley Irrigation district, aggregating $1,200,000, were in custody in a Denver bank, the control of which was alleged to have been obtained.

TROOPS ARE STILL MENACE TO PEACE

Martial Enthusiasm Remains and Outbreak May Come at Any Time

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The tension in the Balkan situation, it is thought, tonight at the foreign office and among diplomats, shows a slight slackening. It is a hard fact, however, that the danger from martial enthusiasm remains, and it is realized that the crisis will persist as long as a million troops, anxious for a fight, continue under arms.

Overoptimism, therefore, is discouraged, but it is pointed out that Russia and Austria, when really united, can go far in the Balkan states. The continued ultimatum demanding reforms, which the Balkan states were to have responded to Turkey, has been under the guidance of diplomacy, taken the form of a note which will be sent simultaneously to all the great powers and Turkey.

ARREST PROMOTERS RAILROAD CONCERN

Said That Farmers Have Been Swindled Out of Several Thousands

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 7.—With his fixed at $1000 for the first and $2000 each for the other two, J. M. Wiley, Fred Pickley and A. J. Bohl, indicted by a federal grand jury on the charge of using the mails to defraud, tonight are in the county jail. All three pleaded not guilty.

Wiley, who, it is said, was leader in organizing the "North and South Railroad association," by means of which farmers of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri are alleged to have lost thousands of dollars, was arrested at New Hampton, Ia., last night by Iowa, Ia., and Beekley of Beekley, Ia., county, Minnesota.

"It is a legitimate enterprise, in which we are engaged," said Mr. Wiley today. "We have planned a road from Vinland to the Gulf. We have not the right-of-way, but we expect to get it. The North and South Railroad association was incorporated in Iowa last year, and has since that time been engaged in securing the right-of-way for the road."

REFUSES INJUNCTION

DENVER, Oct. 7.—Judge Tamm today refused to grant an injunction against the Bull Moose party in its efforts to secure the nomination of Charles D. Johnson for governor at the state election in November. The injunction was sought by the Rocky Mountain National Association.

LANDSLIDE FOR BULL MOOSE IS PREDICTED IN COLORADO

DENVER, Oct. 7.—Denver headquarters of the Bull Moose party this morning received from National Chairman J. M. Dixon a telegram in which he makes the following record of conditions:

Colorado—If increase keeps on proportionately until election, Progressive party will have landslide in Colorado. Straw vote indicates Roosevelt in some localities ten to one.

From telegrams received today from our state chairman, I quote, Wyoming strongly Progressive. Every poll and straw vote, taken gives Roosevelt big lead over all.

Missouri—Resignation of electoral and county tickets indicate unmistakable panic in Republican party. Continued accession from Democratic party.

Kentucky—Result of registration clearly indicates Roosevelt will receive twice as many votes in Kentucky as Taft.

Kansas—If election held now, Roosevelt would carry Kansas.

California—Roosevelt and Johnson will carry California by at least 100,000 plurality.

Indiana—Believe we will carry Indiana with Republican ticket running poor third. Sentiment growing wonderfully.

Illinois—Roosevelt indicated plurality between 100,000 and 150,000. State ticket running with na-

A POSITIVE FORCE

A NEGATIVE force in control of governmental affairs has become intolerable with the people. President Taft has disappointed his friends. It was believed that he would possess executive force. His work under the direction of the Roosevelt administration was admirable.

Today the people are demanding a positive force to take charge of their affairs and that force is best represented by Theodore Roosevelt. His enemies do not doubt his executive ability or his initiative. The trusts and representatives of Big Business fear him. Nothing is being left undone that would serve the purpose of defeating him. Wall Street is playing the cards against him the same as they played them against Mr. Bryan in 1896.

The press of the nation is endeavoring to spread an evil influence against him. Last week when he appeared before the senate investigating committee his replies to questions regarding his conduct in past presidential campaigns in the matter of contributions were straightforward and to the point. HIS CONDUCT ON THE WITNESS STAND AFFORDED PROOF THAT HE WAS, AND IS, AN HONEST MAN.

The press of the country is trying to discredit him not because they believe him dishonest, but because the interests behind this great newspaper organization fear him. They do not want a man for president who has ideas of his own and possesses the courage to put these ideas into execution. For that reason a bitter campaign is being made against Mr. Roosevelt. We believe, however, that the people realize the importance of the battle being waged and for once this ordinarily potent influence will prove of no avail.

SPEED AND TRAFFIC LAWS

AS is the case probably in every city in the country, a certain percentage of the automobilists and motorcycleists of Colorado Springs frequently violate the speed, general traffic or muffler ordinance, and this condition of affairs is the more unfortunate in that it could so easily be done away with.

Many regard the speeding autocrat as intolerant of the rights and safety of others as one willfully risking his own life and that of the general public for the sport there is in it. Some auto drivers, on the other hand, seem imbued with the impression that the ordinances regulating automobile traffic are traps laid especially to drag them into court and compel them to pay a fine. They apparently think of the policeman as their natural enemy, one lying eagerly in wait, watching for the slightest infringement of the speed law in order to arrest the culprit.

Neither impression is correct. The average automobilist or motorcycleist is just the ordinary man, possessing the usual public-spiritedness and good feeling toward his fellow man, and with no more desire than any one else to have an inconvenience another. The laws are just and moderate, and are based on consideration for the public safety.

Most of these violations are due to thoughtlessness, pure and simple. No auto driver intends to go so fast as to miss a pedestrian by only a hair's breadth any more than he willfully deprives sleepers of their rest by leaving his muffler open at night, or intentionally impedes traffic and risks collisions by cutting corners diagonally. The thoughtless driver does not think of the consequences, and a little reflection would work wonders.

Ten times the present police force of Colorado Springs could not entirely stop these violations if the auto drivers themselves did not cooperate. A little more care in turning corners and regulating speed would do much to solve the problem. And as to mufflers—the idea that open mufflers greatly add to the power is erroneous. The added power is so slight as to be almost imperceptible in a country as level as Colorado Springs. So insignificant is the aid of the open muffler that many auto manufacturers have stopped installing the "cut-out."

As to motorcycles they surely have power enough for the comparatively light load they carry to do away with all need of open mufflers except on the steepest hills. There is always the exception. Some drivers selfishly disregard the rights of others for the sake of their own personal convenience or sport. These repeaters, who violate the law time and again, should be severely dealt with. A jail sentence should be their portion. The habitual repeater is a menace to the public, and ought to be treated as such.

Colorado Springs probably has more autos and motorcycles than any other city of anywhere near its size in the country. With a little care, consideration and judgment, it could easily be made the best regulated and safest city in the United States, with reference to automobile traffic.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

A WILSON AUDITOR.
 To the Editor of The Gazette:
 As a spectator sitting in the gallery of the Opera house today listening to Governor Wilson, I made the following count: Sitting on the stage were 54 women, 3 children, 48 men. In the right wing of the gallery were 41 men and women and 15 children under 12 years. The 11th school children were there in a body. Two-thirds of the audience was composed of women and children. At 12:50 p. m. the Opera house was about one-half full; at 1 p. m. the hour Governor Wilson was announced to speak, it was three-fourths full with all boxes and 25 seats on the stage empty. Governor Wilson's reception lasted one-half minute. Comparing these figures with the known attendance and dignitaries given Colonel Roosevelt last month ought to give the average Democrat the cold.

I would like to ask them if they considered it sane logic when Governor Wilson made the statement today:
 "I am in more fear of the sincere man than I am mistaken than a rascal that is insincere."

I was surprised to hear Governor Wilson make the statement, "I have just discovered that the difference between myself and my Republican brother is the tariff," and yet Governor Wilson says he is neither a believer in high tariff or free trade.

THE "LITTLE PEOPLE"

From the Chicago Tribune.
 "Peter Pan's inquiry as to our belief in fairies is answered in the affirmative seriously by more persons than you might imagine. Many of these would not care to admit this belief openly, but there are enough who affirm it to make a considerable number. The Journal of American Folk Lore from time to time has reported interviews with such, and in spite of scoffs of science and skeptics, they stoutly hold to their belief. There was a clergyman lately stationed in Chicago who avowed that he had seen 'the little people' in Ireland, and had held converse with them."

And at the recent meeting of the British association in Dundee a paper was read announcing the discovery in the Dee valley of hundreds of pigmy flints, said to date from the neolithic and early bronze ages. These flints, arrows, knives, axes, picks, shovels and other implements, now not known, were so small that they could not have been the tools of prehistoric children, for a dozen of them could have been held in the palm of an infant's hand.

Though rudely fashioned there was no mistaking for what they were intended. This science may prove that fairies did once exist, even if they do not people the earth now.

WOMEN IN THE FIGHT FOR A LIVING WAGE.

From the New York American.
 Do many of us realize that the most of us have to get along on a very few dollars a week? That the odd pennies we spend in the course of a week would support some families?

Recently there have been lists published of men in various cities receiving more than $1000 a year income. The number of these men are fewer than regularly supposed.
 Yet anyone who has passed the street after street of expensive homes in this city and viewed the hundreds of costly apartments is bound to marvel where all the money comes from.

Unfortunately these same people do not see the thousands who consider themselves lucky to have a good bed to sleep on.

A recent report from certain factories in Kansas City shows that 574 women there are paid between 45 and 55 a week, and 630 between 35 and 45 of the total number 10 per cent are paid less than 35 a week and that 544 are set as a living wage in Kansas City.

Twenty per cent of the men receive less than ten dollars a week, and most of them have families of five or more.

There is a terrible argument for a reduction in the cost of living.

DELAYED WEDDINGS AND THE MONEY QUESTION.

From the New York American.

It seems a strange thing that with all the varied discussion of suffrage and the sex question none of the enthusiasts for sex equality have mentioned the money question as it affects marriage. The conventional theory that marriage is family business, and that it is the duty of the parents to see to the material welfare of the young couple, finds no echo on this side of the ocean.

The American idea of marriage is still the pioneer idea. In the old days, when women were scarce and the question of organizing a home resolved itself merely into a mating, the men of this land were glad to win anything that was a petticoat. But with the present dense population and the struggle for existence in keen competition with other men, this crude form of family life must necessarily give way.

A trying evil of the present day is the delay of marriage until one or both of the couple reaches middle age. More and more it is the fashion for a man to wait until he is 35 or 40 before he enters matrimony. This means that a man is 40 or 45 before his babies come along, and that when his sons and daughters are passing through childhood he is too old to be a companion to them. And these delayed marriages are nine times out of ten caused by material financial considerations. It is becoming harder and harder as the years go on for a young man to earn enough to start and provide for a family. But if the bride brought with her an income equal to that earned or possessed by her husband this condition would be changed instantly and more youthful marriages would take place. In all seriousness, this is a question that the American father of the future must consider.

THE "POPS"—A MEMORY.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The People's (or Populist) party met in national convention in St. Louis the other day. Eight delegates attended. Though shy in numbers the delegates preserved the historic traditions. Six hours were occupied in impassioned oratory. Thus a movement, conceived amid the stiff breezes in Kansas, born no "larger than a man's hand," but nurtured by vocal disturbance until it grew into a cyclone that swept four states and shook the nation, has fizzled to the whisper of a zephyr.

 Memories alone remain. But what memories!
 Peffer, the only living Pop who ever broke into the United States senate. Peffer, whose speeches were as long as his whiskers and whose whiskers were "continued in our neck." Peffer, now an ex-Pop, who went back to the Republican fold, but whose states politically is in doubt since the June unpleasantness at the Coliseum. Peffer, once bearded prophet, now at the age of 82, in a hospital at Topeka, writing a history of the Populist party for posterity.

Leedy, who won a governorship by "blowing blood out of his ears" one hot night when leaders of a deadlocked state convention paraded five candidates before 1900 sweltering, limp and weary delegates. Leedy, whose first message to the legislature set a nation laughing by citing "the dogs of Egypt barking at the pyramids." Leedy, whose private secretary was Edward Campbell Little, just before that consul general to Egypt, and much discursive of the fact. Leedy, now in Alaska, grappling with sterner problems.

Mary Ellen Lease! "Lantern Jawed Mary" who was proud of the protuberant cheek, which stopped not at physical definition. Mary Yellin, who tore up and down the land seeking whom she might devour, and generally finding some. Militant Mary! Now known conservative and talking not at all.

Jerry Simpson! Jerry, who went to congress as a joke, went to congress sockless and emerged in silk hose and patent leathers. Jerry, town character of Medicine Lodge, who planned a laugh on the late Mr. Dingley in congress by showing that that starchy home industry advocate wore a silk hat made in London. Jerry is dead, but before he died he had ceased to be a joke.

And so on ad lib. Memory could write more than space permits. It could tell of the various brands of Pop—the Fusion Pop, the middle-of-the-road Pop, the Bryan Pop. It could recite the slump in the barber business in those bewhiskered days. It could indite the long list of panaceas and poppycock advanced. It could enumerate the cross purposes and selfishness that gradually disrupted the party.

Eight loyal members of the grand army left! But these are not all that are left. Look through the platforms of the surviving parties and of the new party, state platforms, national platforms. Look, too, into the statutes of not a few states. There you will find many of the once derided "populisms," many of the proposals hurried up and down the land by conservative ridicule. No longer sockless and bewhiskered, no longer breathing blood, populism no longer populism. Now it is received in the best political society, is bowed to respectfully, even if with hostility, in the public ways and sits in some states clothed with authority.

Causes sometimes live by dying.

NEAR TO NATURE

LOCAL COLOR.
 From the Des Moines Tribune.
 Miss Sadie Redhead of Postville is visiting Mrs. William Walleside of Hillside avenue.

A FLORIDA ENCHANTMENT.

From the Pensacola Journal.
 Tuesday night when Miss Porter sang in the Chautauqua auditorium at De Funiak, Fla., such songs as "Ben Bolt," and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," many of the older people wept as fond memories of the past were awakened, and when she sang "You Had Better Ask Me" and "Three Little Chestnuts" the children as well as grown people were filled with laughter. But when she sang "The Flower Song" the souls of all were stirred with the emotions of powerful musical conceptions. In the bird songs one could hear the cooing of the pigeons as they built their nests and the chirping of the wren as it twittered to and fro. In the grand opera selection, "Taria," the souls of all were stirred to their deepest depths by the waves of wonderful music that swept one away as though the voice of Neels had sung the anthem of the ages.

Costly Luxuries

By RUTH CAMERON.

A man whom I used to know recently committed suicide.
 It wasn't a case of unrequited love. Nothing so romantic as that. It was simply a case of unpaid bills.

This man had health, a good wife and fairly good prospects. There was no reason on earth why he shouldn't have lived to a ripe old age in enjoyment of all these blessings, if it hadn't been for the habit of spending just a little more money than he had. Instead of basing his expenditures on his earning powers, he based them on his wishing powers. Marriage only made him worse. Agencies which had loaned him money at exorbitant rates were constantly hounding him, every mail brought him dunning letters, borrowed from Peter to pay Paul he passed sleepless nights trying to find a way out, he agonized over his condition, and yet all the time such was the psychology of the spender he went on living beyond his means.

Finally things came to a crisis, and driven half crazy by it all, he killed himself, leaving his wife with a good insurance and a broken heart.

We often see people who seem to have more of the good things of life than we can comprehend with their financial condition, and sometimes we envy them. It is a foolish envy. Believe me, anyone who lives beyond his means pays heavily in coin of anxiety and a troubled mind for all the pleasure he may get out of his luxuries.

For every man who is driven to suicide by extravagant living I don't doubt that there are a hundred who live on the brink of it.

It is said by those who have good reason to know, that a great many of the people who own automobiles are constantly on the very edge of financial ruin. Their houses, their salaries and their peace of mind are all heavily mortgaged to maintain the wretched thing. Decidedly the savages who used to call the automobile a "devil wagon" spoke better than they knew.

And decidedly we torturers, who pined along afoot and anxiously watch the horse in their automobiles, are really much more likely to win out in the race for happiness than we realize.

When a young couple starts out spending money in a haphazard way without attempting to reckon just how much per week they can afford to spend for each item, they start on the road to trouble. Loan sharks and charge accounts make such conditions possible, and I think anyone with limited means should avoid the latter as carefully as the former. Even checking accounts, unless one is very strong minded, have a tendency to make one careless about spending money. It seems so much more real, you know, when you part with an actual five-dollar bill than it does just to sign one's name to a scrap of paper, especially when one has a plentiful supply of just such scraps in one's check book.

Spending money is the easiest and most pleasant thing in the world. Except when you don't have it. Even then it may be pleasant at first but sooner or later it will spoil your whole life.

MEASURES TO BE VOIED ON AT ELECTION NOV. 5

In order that the voters of El Paso county may familiarize themselves with the proposed laws and amendments to be voted on at the general election November 5, The Gazette intends each day to publish a brief abstract of one of the proposed measures, until the entire 32 have been set forth.

The sixth measure that will appear on the election ballot provides for the levying of an assessment of one-twentieth of a mill on each dollar of assessed property in the state to be used for a special fund for the state immigration bureau. The money is to be collected by the regular selected officials of the counties and sent to the state treasurer, where it will be placed to the credit of the immigration fund. The money is to be used in advertising Colorado and in a general attempt to secure immigration.

SNORS

By GEORGE FITCH.
 Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

A snob is a person who believes he is better than other people, but is afraid the world will not suspect it unless he keeps advertising the fact.

An aristocrat knows he is better than other people and presumes they have good taste enough to know it too. This enables him to make the world happier by mingling with it without fear of soiling his standing. An aristocrat is of no more real use as an aristocrat, than a French people, but he is not disagreeable and is often an ornament.

The aristocrat is the deity of the snob. A snob is a man who has either been noticed by an aristocrat or is trying to be. This compels him to concentrate all his attention, courtesy and consideration on the aristocrat, and leaves him none for humble folks, who have supper instead of dinner in the evening.

We refer to snobs as "he" exclusively out of consideration to womenkind.

It is easy to tell a snob, because of your desire to hit him on his beautifully marcelled nose, as soon as you talk with him. By nature, he is as much like common folks, that if he ever got mixed up with them no one could find him again. So it is necessary for him to distinguish himself, which he usually does by a lack of good manners.

Meeting a snob is like meeting a cold codfish in a fog. Talking with him is like holding a conversation with a stern and distant dress shirt bosom.

The snob judges men by their clubs and the cut of their coat tails, and lives with eyes fixed fondly on the top of the society column. Sometimes he has a brain, but he always has it under excellent subjection. He always has manners, but never enough to go around. He would rather accept a cigar from a millionaire leader, than an office of great trust from the unshamooed public, and his two missions in life are to break into society and then to put his back to the door and keep others from breaking in after him.

There is no open season on the snob, but there is always an open door in his vicinity through which we may emerge in haste, thus leaving him to annoy himself alone.

THE STUTTERING CHILD

Louis M. Terman in Harper's Weekly.

For many years the school authorities of certain European countries have conducted special schools for the benefit of stutters. These are of several types, some conducted during the summer, others utilizing an after-school hour, and still others taking complete charge of the pupil until he is cured. All these are wonderfully successful. As a rule, recovery is complete within four or five months, and only rarely does a case prove intractable. When relapse occurs, as sometimes happens, the child is given a second course of treatment, or even a third, if necessary.

The cure for stuttering is as much psychological as physiological. It is of the utmost importance that the patient's self-confidence be aroused. He must forget that it is longer possible for him to stutter. Appropriate speech exercises, proceeding very slowly from the easiest to the more difficult, and adapted to suit the needs of the individual case, gradually overcome timidity and dissipate the language obsessions. Correct habits of respiration have to be instilled, for the stutters, as a rule, has never learned how to breathe properly. The stutters' speech is faulty. His whole nervous system is likely to be at fault. He may "stutter" in his emotions, his thinking and his willing. The treatment must have for its purpose a thorough reeducation of the individual's nervous system, the general upbuilding of his physical health and the improvement of his mental condition. It is, therefore, much more a matter for hygiene and education than for medicine.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE NATIONAL CEMETERY AT ARLINGTON

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Although established within so comparatively recent a period, there are few cemeteries in the world that contain more interesting features than does beautiful Arlington, the place which the United States government has selected for the last resting place of its soldiers and sailors. Its location is all that could be desired from a standpoint of natural beauty, as it is on high ground commanding a view across the Potomac of the city of Washington and all its manifold beauties. In addition it possesses historic value from having been the country home of several persons intimately connected with the history of the nation.

The grounds comprising the cemetery are a part of the original Custis estate, formerly known as "Arlington Heights." The property belonged first to John Parke Custis, who was a son of Martha Washington by her first marriage. He was aid-de-camp to Washington during the War of the Revolution and died on November 5, 1781, of camp fever contracted during the siege of Yorktown. Upon his death, Washington adopted his two children, George Washington Parke Custis and Eleanor Parke Custis.

George Washington Parke Custis inherited the "Arlington estate" from his father, but he was a member of Washington's family until the death of the latter in 1799 when he removed to Arlington where he resided until he died in 1857. He had only one child, a daughter, to whom he bequeathed the "Arlington House estate" by a will dated March 26, 1855.

Daughter Gets Estate.
 This daughter, Mary Ann Randolph Lee, was the wife of General Robert E. Lee. She was to have the use of Arlington during her life, after which it was to revert to her son, George Washington Custis Lee, and his heirs forever. Robert E. Lee, who was a colonel in the United States army before the breaking out of the Civil war, resided at Arlington and it is to enter the service of Virginia on the occasion of that state. For this reason it has seemed especially fitting that now when past differences are overcome, the confederate, as well as the Union, soldiers should rest in a spot having such touching associations for both.

The story of how Arlington was acquired by the federal government first in payment of delinquent taxes and of the suit which followed by which the United States finally paid $150,000 additional for the property has been frequently told.

The National cemetery at Arlington now contains between four and five hundred acres of ground enclosed by a substantial brick and stone wall. It has five principal entrances, three on the eastern and one upon the western side. These upon the eastern front are designated as the North, McMillan, Sheridan and South gateways. There are two stone columns, one on each side of the North gateway on which are inscribed the names of "Ord" and "Weitzel." The Sheridan gateway has two columns on each side and the four are surmounted by a stone tablet upon which the name of "Sheridan" is inscribed. The four columns contain the names of "Lincoln," "Grant," "Stanton" and "Scott." The South gateway is built of Seneca sandstone in the form of a massive arch composed of a copstone resting upon two columns. The name of "McClellan" is engraved upon the capstone and the names of "Hooker" and "Burnside" upon the columns. In this way even the entrances to the cemetery commemorate the memory of the men who defended the nation in her need. The McMillan gateway was originally known as the South gateway, while the present

Began in 1866.
 In September, 1866, there was erected an imposing monument to the memory of 2,111 unknown dead who died either in the battle of Bull Run or along the route to the Rappahannock. This was practically the beginning of the utilization of Arlington as a national cemetery. The monument is of massive gray granite and is now sufficiently moss grown to add greatly to its interest.

Each year additions are made to the monumental wealth of Arlington. Last year there was an impressive ceremony attended by thousands of people connected with the dedication of a monument to Major L'Enfant, which was provided for by a special appropriation of congress. This is in the form of a large flat altar bearing upon it an officer's sword and the following inscription:

"Pierre Charles L'Enfant, engineer, artist, soldier, under the direction of George Washington, designed the plan of the Federal City. Master U. S. Engineer corps, 1782. Charter member of the Society of Cincinnati, designed its certificate and insignia. Born in Paris, France, August 2, 1755. Died June 14, 1823, while residing at Chatham Castle."

SIGHTSEEING TRIPS FOR RAILROAD MEN

Beefsteak Fry and Grand Ball
Features on Program
Tomorrow

Today's entertainment for the visiting members of the American Association of Passenger Agents, about 350 in number who arrived here last night from Denver by special train, will include sightseeing trips to the various points of interest in the region. The Cog road up Pikes Peak, the Crystal Park auto line, the Cave of the Winds, Seven Falls, Mt. Manitou, Indian, Cliff Dwellers Ruins, and the Garden of the Gods are today's combinations. At noon luncheon will be served at Manitou in picnic fashion by the Hot Iron club. A banquet will and today's affair it being complimentary to the visitors by W. S. Dunning of the Antlers hotel.

Tomorrow's feature will be an outdoor beefsteak fry in South Choyenne canon, given the railroad passenger men by the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce. This will be the largest affair of the kind ever held here, preparations being made for 400 guests. A grand ball tomorrow night at the Antlers hotel will end the Colorado Springs festivities, the visitors leaving Thursday morning for Cripple Creek. They will end their Colorado visit with a trip to Glenwood Springs Friday.

The convention committee of the Chamber of Commerce has charge of the entertainment, and consists of L. A. Puffer, chairman, W. S. Dunning, W. H. Cundey, N. L. Drew and Mark Rafferty. Members of the entertainment committee are requested to meet this morning at 7:30 o'clock at the Antlers hotel to see that the visiting ticket men are shown the sights of the region.

TO DISCUSS PROPOSED "OPEN" SCHOOL HOUSES

Judge H. G. Lunt, W. P. Kinney, president of the school board and Van F. Rouse, secretary, will be the principal speakers at the meeting to be held Thursday night to discuss the proposed law to open school houses for public gatherings. It is understood they are opposed to the bill. The meeting is to be held at the court house under the auspices of Colorado Springs lodge No. 334, Jr. O. U. A. M. Several other speakers are to be secured and there will be public discussion.

HOBSON GIVES ADDRESS TONIGHT, TEMPLE THEATER

Congressman Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama will open the campaign of the Dry Colorado league at Temple theater tonight at 8 o'clock when he will deliver an address on "The Great Destroyer." General admission will be free, but any desiring to reserve seats may do so at Whitney & Greenwood's, the Butcher drug store or C. B. Lauterman's. Captain Hobson was one of the heroes of the Spanish-American war and won his seat in congress on the prohibition ticket.

You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation.

Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed. Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

PORTLAND STRIKE BIGGEST IN YEARS

Later Reports Show Sulphide Ore Runs From $250 to $350 Per Ton

Following the exclusive announcement in last Friday's Gazette that a 12-foot strike of sulphide ore had been discovered in the Portland mine at Cripple Creek, information was given yesterday that the ore body is running 13,765 7/8 width, is assaying from $250 to $350 a ton, and gives promise of being one of the most valuable discoveries in years.

The strike was made at the 1,500-foot level, 100 feet below the former water level, and experts believe that it will mark the beginning of a new zone that will produce millions for the district. That countless tons of rich ore exist below the water level throughout the region is the opinion of mining engineers, and this will add impetus to the proposed new tunnel announcement of which was made Sunday.

The new strike is of sulphide ore, carrying 25 per cent iron. It was made about 100 feet from the main shaft and away from the spot where the engineers expected to encounter the old ore shute. Based upon this discovery, which has been kept secret by the mine management, the stock rose to $108 recently, the highest mark in years. It is also believed that the strike will affect other properties in the district and that it will mean a new era in the industry for the pioneer mining section in the state.

WILL OPEN BIDS FOR PIKE VIEW BRIDGE

The county commissioners will open bids tomorrow for the construction of the bridge at Pike View in place of the one which was washed out during the storms last summer. The bridge at first planned contained a great deal of steel work, but as the delivery of steel is slow at this time, and as the state highway commission wished certain changes in the plans which would involve much delay, the commissioners decided to have a bridge constructed mostly of concrete. County Surveyor Ford has completed the plans for the bridge and they have been given out to contractors.

John Heath, Michigan Bar Cal. writes: "I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for nearly six years. Had a very bad spell some time ago and was unable to turn with out help. I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills, and can truly say I was relieved at once. I take pleasure in recommending Foley Kidney Pills." The Robinson Drug Co. Adv.

BISHOP MCCONNELL OPENS INSTITUTE HERE TONIGHT

Bishop W. F. McConnell of Denver, who is to have charge of the Colorado Springs district institute of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session at the local First Methodist church tonight and tomorrow, will arrive in this city some time today. This is one of a series of meetings which he is holding throughout the state and a number of prominent church leaders will take part.

SEPTEMBER TOURIST TRAVEL GREATER THAN LAST YEAR

That the volume of railroad business, especially the tourist traffic, was a third greater during September 1912 than it was in 1911 and that the business was heavier than in August of this year is the statement of railroad officials of the city.

This peculiarity in the traffic is accounted for by the late tourist season which was a profitable one to the railroads. Although no official figures have been received, it is stated that, owing to the heavy volume of business in September, the 1912 tourist season will be greater than that of last year.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

One of the most interesting classes ever presented by the Young Women's Christian association is the millinery class which meets for the first time this morning at 9:30 o'clock. Miss Todd will give instruction in practical hat making in a series of lessons which are designed to make for economy in the millinery bills of all who take the course.

At 4 o'clock Miss Briggs meets for the first time the afternoon class in vocal training. Many have asked for this work and a full registration is expected. To receive for a purely nominal tuition vocal instruction which in private lessons would cost much more is one of the privileges of association members for this year.

At 7:30 o'clock this evening Prof. J. W. Park of Cripple Creek begins his series of lectures on English drama. These fortnightly lectures are free to all and many will take advantage of this exceptional opportunity. With a background of the elements of nineteenth century drama, Prof. Park will discuss the "Blue Bird," "The Piper" and modern drama as a whole.

Miss Todd's domestic science class meets for the first time at 7:30 o'clock this evening. This will comprise a study of the principles underlying the processes of cooking as a science, with particular attention given to the cooking of cereals, vegetables, eggs, milk, gelatin, dishes, meat and fish. Anyone desiring to do so may take single lessons in this course.

Miss Benson's class in "business English" meets at 7:30 o'clock. This course will be valuable to all who enter. Principles of rhetoric and composition will be discussed in the 10-lesson course which Miss Benson is peculiarly fitted to conduct.

At 7:30 o'clock Miss Bennett meets a beginner's class in physical training. The classes for this winter are exceptionally fine, and a large registration is expected in the educational department.

The Haskin Letter

THE NATIONAL CEMETERY AT ARLINGTON
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Manor, Prince George County, Maryland and was interred there. Reinterred at Arlington April 25, 1900.

Noted for Visitors

From its earliest history, Arlington has been especially noted for the enormous crowds which frequently gather there. Last March there was estimated to have been over 25,000 visitors in attendance upon the exercises connected with the interment of the bodies of the victims of the Maine disaster, which were brought home from Cuba for burial. A fitting monument for them will be erected at an early date.

The annual memorial exercises held in Arlington on Decoration day are always the most impressive in the country because of the number of army and navy officers in attendance. Thousands of people come to Washington each year to attend these services and the most distinguished orators of the nation deliver addresses. The visitors are estimated as reaching full 200,000 for the past five Memorial day services. The decorations of some of the graves are most elaborate, while the grave of every soldier buried in the great cemetery receives some mark of attention upon that day.

These exercises are always held in the Amphitheater, a beautiful open structure composed chiefly of white pillars situated upon an elevated section of ground. In this the officers and those participating in the services are seated while the crowds in attendance are grouped around the front and sides.

"Temple of Fame"

Not far from the amphitheater and near also to the tomb of the unknown stands the temple of fame which adds much to the beauty of the cemetery. It is an octagon shaped structure 25 feet in diameter consisting of stone pillars and cornices, an iron roof and a concrete floor. The pillars and cornices were removed from the grounds of the patent office when that building was restored after its partial destruction by fire in September. On the alternate panels of the cornice.

How She Acquired "Feminine Charm"

A nicely-dressed woman sat beside me in the train. Everyone stared at her. I couldn't help doing the same. It was not her beauty of feature that held our eyes, nor her costume. But there was something about her face and expression—I risked it and asked: "Would you mind telling me how you keep your complexion so dazzlingly pure?" Don't think me impertinent but you seem even 20, not haven't a line in your face and your cheeks are quite peach-like. How do you do it?" Laughing, she said: "That's easy. I remove my skin. Sounds shocking, doesn't it? But listen. Instead of cosmetics I use only pure milled wax. It is available at any druggist's. I apply this nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This gently absorbs the soiled, weather-beaten film-skin without pain or discomfort, thus revealing the fresh, clear under-skin. Every woman has a beautiful complexion underneath. You know. Then, to ward off wrinkles I use a face bath made by dissolving powdered salicylic (one ounce) in one-half pint witch hazel—a harmless astringent which tones the skin wonderfully. Very simple, isn't it?" I thought so. I'm not trying her plan and like it immensely. Willett Brown in The Story Teller. Advertisement.

RED SOX OUTFIELD GIVES BOSTON BIG ADVANTAGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Just why have hundreds of New Yorkers been giving odds on the proposition of the Boston Red Sox, 1912 champions of the American league, defeating the National league champion Giants in the world's series, which opens at the Polo grounds in New York tomorrow afternoon? There are almost as many different opinions on the reason, as there are different minds.

If Joe Wood and the rest of Manager Stahl's pitching staff? Close to the reason is the fact that the Boston Red Sox, who are the only team in the American league, have a strong pitcher in Ray Collins, but no stronger in the great and only Christy Matheson, who is to be Tesreau's running mate. And Stahl has no better rescue man than McGraw's tried and trusted "Crash" Crandall. It will be seen then, while Stahl's pitching staff may be the stronger combination for a season's work, New York is just as strongly fortified in the box for a season's work.

Up to Outfielders.

Other can explain the rest with the infielders. The experience, heavy hitting and superb fielding of Stahl at first base is all balanced by New York's sterling shortstop, Merkle. Ray Wagner, who is one of the best of all shortstops, does not add more strength to the Sox infield than does Captain Larry Doyle to that of the Giants. And Herzog and Fletcher, who are better than any other catchers haven't anything to do with the odds on Boston, for Merkle and Wilson are enough better than them and only to give New York decided advantage.

Why, then, the odds? Answer—the field. Or, to be more accurate, the outfield.

The outer garden is the one section of the Red Sox's field that is unquestionably superior to the Giants. Speaker, Lewis and Hooper form the best known to the pastime. They cover more ground on fly balls than Merkle, Snodgrass and Devore or Becker, as a trio they are better than any other outfielders in the American league.

Boston Fielders Best.

Of in either one of the three fields of the Giants equal to Stahl's men, individually, the men who guard the outer garden for the new champions are the best, but collectively they are the most formidable crew.

Murray, the National league right fielder, compares more favorably with his opponent than do either Snodgrass or Devore. Murray is the possessor of what is widely rated to be the best throwing arm that is engaged in the thrilling game of cutting downers at the plate. But even in this, for he has only a slight edge on Hooper. American league experts rate him as high a rating in this department as either Cobb or Speaker, a player who gambles an attempt to be against either of these men's shiny right arm always takes a long time.

Cary Given Try at Tackle for Tigers

Irwin Cary, cousin of Gil Cary, famous Colorado college tackle, was given a trial at the right tackle job last night for the Tigers, and showed up well. Cary, who is light for a line-man, is fast and willing, and his knowledge of the game may clinch a job for him with the Black and Gold.

Koch, the regular tackle, is out of the game for a few days due to his injured back, but expects to be in the game Saturday.

Coach Rothgeb put his squad through some tough practice last night and, if indications count anything, the team will be a different one against the Cowboys Saturday than it was against the Terrors last Saturday.

WINCHESTER

HE CAN'T GET AWAY WITH IT"

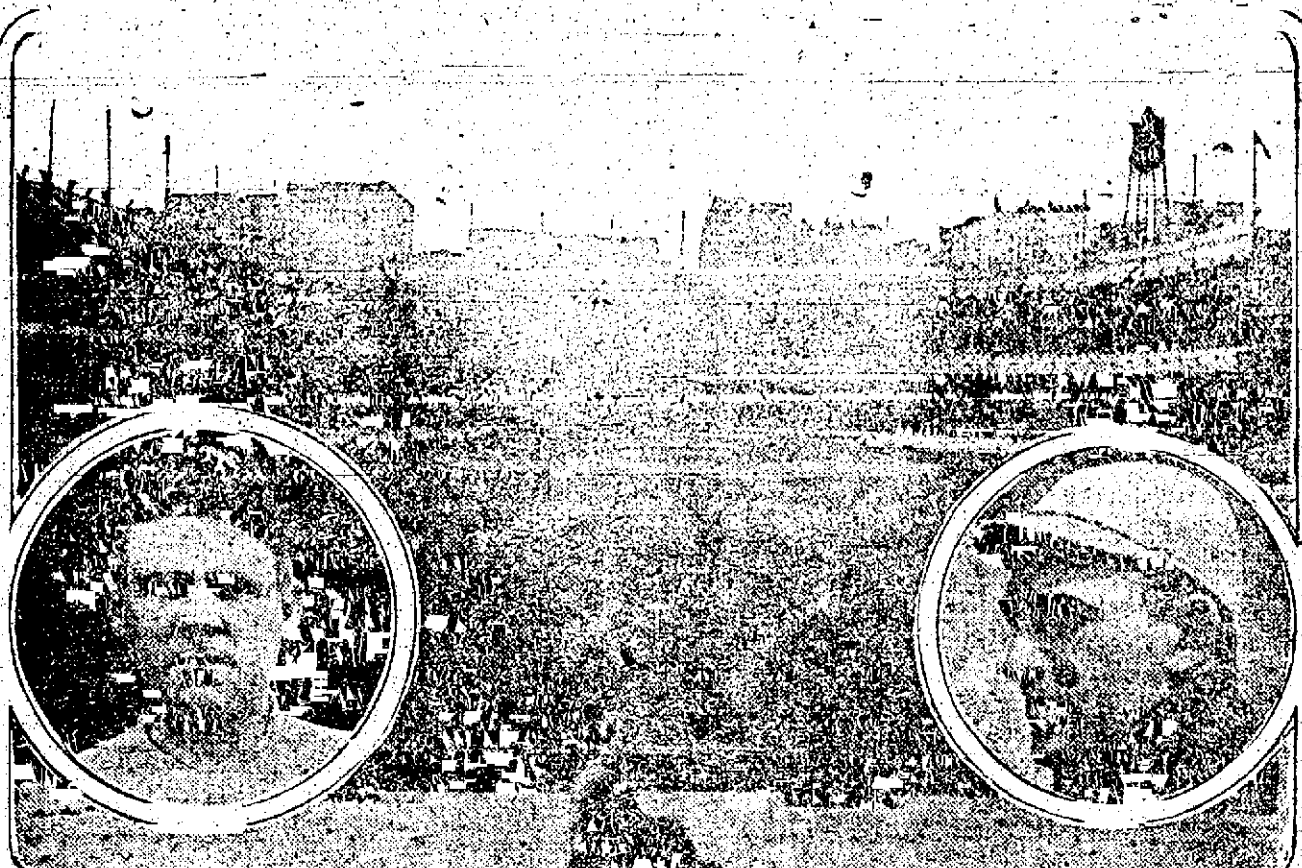

.22 AUTOMATIC RIFLE

The rapid, repeat shots which the Winchester .22 Caliber Automatic Rifle delivers will overcome any animal. You have only to pull the trigger for each shot, which enables you to keep the rifle aimed right on the object. It operates by its own recoil and shoots a cartridge that has accuracy and power. For small game, use the new Hollow Point cartridge, which upsets upon striking and delivers a hard, crushing blow. The .22 Automatic is very simple, and just ordinary care will keep it in good order all the time. It is not costly.

Also use W-Foster cartridges in Winchester rifles as they are 1¢ for each shot.

Above is a photograph of the famous Polo grounds in New York City, where the New York Giants, champions of the National league, and the Boston Red Sox, champions of the American league, will play the first game of the series for the world's baseball championship today. Below is a reproduction of a crowd of typical New York fans in action.

Speculation Over Cause of Meeting National League

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—There was much speculation in baseball circles as to the meaning of the calling of a special meeting of the National league by President Lynch (yesterday) to be held a day or two after the close of the world's series and the Chicago city series.

Baseball men believe the special meeting will have something to do with the recent statements of Horace S. Fegel, president of the Philadelphia club, with reference to umpires favoring the New York team in their decisions.

SERIES WILL BREAK TIE BETWEEN BIG LEAGUES

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—This year's world series will be particularly interesting, because it will break a tie that now exists between the two major leagues in the base ball event. Since the two leagues began to clash in 1903, each league has produced four winners.

CALL GAZETTE FOR NEWS OF CHAMP SERIES

Arrangements have been completed by The Gazette whereby holders of each issue of the world's championship series that opens today in New York City between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox will be received here by direct wire from the Polo grounds. The games start at 2 o'clock eastern time and the first news will be received here shortly after 12 o'clock.

If you want the correct dope on the series, inquire by inquiring call The Gazette, Main 214 or Main 215. In addition to the complete score of each game The Gazette will carry special articles and matter on the players that will appear in no other paper in this section.

Coombs Unconscious From Blow on Head—Phils Beat Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Jack Coombs, pitcher for the Philadelphia American league team, was knocked unconscious by a wild pitch of Earl Alcorn, pitcher for the National league team, in the sixth inning of the opening game of the interleague championship of this city today at Shibe park.

Coombs was able to walk home after the game, but was badly shaken, and may not be able to play in any of the remaining games of the series. Alexander, who pitched the first five innings for the Nationals, was hit hard by the American leaguers in the fourth inning.

Carlisle Brown replaced Coombs and in the eighth inning walked two men and hit another. After Coombs, who was hit in the head, had given up, Alcorn and Dehn tripled and McGraw singled, clinching the triumph for the Athletics. Score: R.H.E. Athletics 6 1 0 0 0 0 1 2 4 National 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 2 0.

BOSTON FANS GIVING ANY ODDS TO BET ON RED SOX

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Authentic information as to the extent of betting on the approaching world championship ball games is impossible. It is known, however, that many Boston supporters have given New York enthusiasts odds as good as 10 to 7 on wagers that the Red Sox will defeat the Giants in the series.

Such odds, however, are an exception rather than a rule. Most wagers are even, with some New York enthusiasts undoubtedly giving odds to Boston men. Both clubs are finishing their league races with practically the same percentage of winning games. Detailed comparisons of individual work and team play show little advantage one way or another. The facts and the uncertainty which naturally surrounds a contest between two teams which have not been matched before, all lead to an evening up of the betting business.

Tendency of the Boston "fans" to indulge in the greater odds may be traced to confidence in Joe Wood's pitching. Speaker's and Gardner's batting and all round team work. Also perhaps to the fact that during the latter part of the season the Giants showed a great falling off from their earlier play.

Almost everyone known in baseball has volunteered to pick the winners, beginning with the opposing managers themselves. Jake Stahl says that he believes he will beat the Giants, and John J. McGraw says he expects to turn the trick, expecting much of his new pitcher, Tesreau.

Connie Mack, who knows the Giants well from having led the Philadelphia Athletics against them to victory in the world championship last year, is certain that the Giants are destined to win. He is quoted as saying the Boston club is the best balanced organization he has seen in 20 years. But Mack is an American league man.

Frank Chance and his Chicago Cubs were beaten by the Giants for the National league pennant and the Chicago manager thinks that a sufficient guarantee that they will beat Boston. A parallel of similar success might be continued almost indefinitely with about equal showing of support.

Players Will Get Autos at Series Games

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The Speaker of the Red Sox and Larry Doyle of the Giants will receive their automobiles, awarded by the jury of newspaper men, during the world's series.

Hugh Chalmers, president of the Calmar Motor company of Detroit, who last season evaded this idea of stimulating the general play and conduct of the big leaguers, will be present next Tuesday at the Polo grounds, New York, to deliver a Chalmers car into the keeping of Captain Larry.

The following day at Fenway park, Boston, the motor car maker will make a like award to Speaker when the Giants and Red Sox prepare for the second battle of the world's championship.

Last season the commission composed of newspaper baseball writers in the 11 cities of the two major circuits honored Frank Schulte of the Cubs with a total of 23 points and Ty Cobb, the sensational Tiger who was given a perfect score of 64 points. This season "Wildfire" failed to earn a point, while Cobb is tied with Baker of the Mackmen for seventh place, each having been awarded 17 points. Fifty-nine points were voted to Speaker's credit while Doyle amassed a total of 48.

Here are some of the vital points considered by the jury in summing up the playing abilities of the winning duo.

Speaker participated in 150 American league games and in 580 times at bat he piled 213 hits for a total of 225 bases, scoring 133 runs.

Doyle, batting fifth in the National league, with an average of .325, engaged in 133 games, went to the plate 544 times, scored 100 runs and made 177 hits, for a total of 256 bases.

Famous Stakes Won by S. Temia-Record

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7.—Tom Kentucky, Kentucky stake of four miles, run at Churchill Downs park, was won by S. Temia and a record of 2:10.45 was established. Colonel Holloway was second, with time and the other starters.

The grueling contest between a steeplechase and a horse race, with the field spread over a furlong. At the end of the race, S. Temia, Manager Mack, increased his lead to 20 lengths and S. Temia then began his race, and had moved into second place.

Jockey Martin on S. Temia began his race, and with Manager Mack, almost closed the big race between the first two horses, until, at the end of the third mile, Manager Mack led by only one length. S. Temia caught him at the first turn, and drew away steadily until at the finish he was 15 lengths ahead of Colonel Holloway, which was 20 lengths ahead of Azor.
